Borders & Crossings: Romanticism to the Present

Professor Peggy Setje-Eilers

Course Description

In this course, you will encounter many of the most exciting textual and visual contributions to German culture in texts from the 19th-21st centuries in English translation. Our focus will be borders - physical, ideological, intellectual, and metaphorical - and crossing borders, as passages to more creative or liberated states of being or as acts of transgression. You will gain insight into aesthetic and intellectual accomplishments of eventful periods in German cultural history. We will take advantage of the unique opportunity of being in Berlin to visit many sites relevant to course materials. Afternoon excursions include the Brücke Museum, Checkpoint Charlie Museum, Brecht-Weigel-Museum, East Side Gallery, Stasi Museum, and the DDR Museum. The language of instruction is English.

You must attend classes, actively engage in class discussions, and regularly contribute ideas to the class to do well in this course. Three typed and double-spaced response papers on specific aspects of a text (1-2 p. each) are due on the day of the reading. Midterm and final take-home essays.
