² This fee structure goes into effect March 9, 2011, applying to all licenses henceforward. It does not apply retroactively.
