Vanderbilt's LAPOP (Latin American Public Opinion Project) Institutional Annual Subscription Licensing Agreement for AmericasBarometer Data Sets

Name of Subscribing Institution: _____

Content Description

The "Annual Subscription" consists of public opinion surveys carried out by the Latin American Public Opinion project as part of its AmericasBarometer series. The sample sizes, county coverage and questionnaire content will vary from survey wave to wave. Normally, a new wave is conducted every two years, but this is not guaranteed as it depends on grant and contract funding to the Latin American Public Opinion Project. The subscription does not cover special purpose samples that may be carried out from time-to-time, even when those are listed on the LAPOP web site (www.LapopSurveys.org).

Annual Subscription

The subscription runs for one year, starting the day after both a signed Licensing Agreement and payment are received by Vanderbilt. During the subscription period, the Subscriber may download the data files at any time and for as many times as needed. AmericasBarometer data may be used only during the valid term of the subscription.

Annual Subscription Fee/Type

To subscribe to the entire AmericasBarometer series (2004, 2006, 2008, 2010, with new survey years added automatically once available), the subscription fee depends on the location of the Subscribing Institution, and the type of institution that is subscribing.

- A. If Subscribing institution is located in the U.S., Canada, Japan, Western Europe or in a European Union member country¹, and if the Subscribing institution is a government institution, multi-lateral public institution, think tank, or a degree-granting institution of higher learning that offers a Ph.D. or Masters in political science (or government), international relations, or public policy, the subscription is an all-inclusive license fee of $1,500 fee per year.
- B. If the Subscribing institution is located in any other part of the world, or if the Subscribing institution is a degree-granting institution of higher learning that does not offer a Ph.D. or Masters in political science (or government), international relations, or public policy², the subscription is a flat $500 fee per year.

Authorized Users, Subscribers and Authentication

The "Subscriber" is the institution that purchases the annual subscription from Vanderbilt and pays the subscription fee. "Authorized User" shall be defined as the Subscriber who purchases the subscription.

The Subscriber shall receive a username and password for use by the Subscriber and its Authorized Users. The username and password will allow for unlimited simultaneous users. The username and password will expire upon termination of the agreement.

- Subscriber may mount the data sets purchased under this agreement on its protected local network, accessible only by affiliated faculty and students.

Prohibited Uses

- Subscriber may not transmit any portion of the Subscribed Materials to a third party, in hard copy or electronically.
- Subscriber may not fulfill requests from other institutions, a practice commonly called Interlibrary Loan, or individuals. It may not distribute the data to any third party, with third parties defined as "individuals or institutions who do not hold a valid LAPOP subscription" as described in this document.
- No commercial use of the Subscribed Materials is permitted.

Human Subjects Protection Clause

- All LAPOP data sets distributed via this agreement have been collected in conformance with U.S. Federal Human Subjects protection regulations, as implemented by the Vanderbilt University Institutional Review Board. Furthermore, the data being distributed are "deidentified," such that users of the survey data should not be able to identify any individual who responded to the surveys. All U.S. institutions and users who obtain a User Subscription from LAPOP are expected to do so in complete conformity with their own institutional review board (IRB) rules implementing applicable Federal human subjects protection rules. Other users should respect the principles of these U.S. regulations in every respect.

Renewal of Subscription

Vanderbilt will make a good faith effort to notify the Subscriber at least 30 days prior to the end of their subscription period to offer renewal of the subscription. Subscription access will terminate one year from the start date of the subscription, which is the date Vanderbilt granted access granted to the Subscriber, unless renewal of the subscription has been initiated by the Subscriber.

Licensor Responsibilities

The Licensor shall:

- Other than making the data available in SPSS and/or STATA format in a timely fashion, the Licensor provides no other performance warranties;

The Licensor shall use reasonable efforts to restore access to the Subscribed Materials as soon as possible. Any extended periods of down time shall be reimbursed through prorated discounts or extended access to the Subscribed Materials;
- Provide notification of any suspected or alleged subscription violations that come to the attention of the Licensor and allow a reasonable time (30 days from the Subscriber's receipt of notice of the violation) for the institution to investigate and take corrective action.
